The government proposed changes to doctors contracts in 2012. Talks broke down in 2014, and began again last year. Some people think that a deal was possible and the government should have continued to negotiate with the doctors, others that the two sides were too far apart and no deal was possible. Which of the following best reflects your view?

The government should have continued negotiating with the doctors, given time a deal was possible	44	37	52	59	42	44	44	38	41	46	48	43	46	45	41	47	44	49
There was no real chance of the government and doctors coming to a deal, and the government were right to impose the new contract	19	35	7	10	22	22	16	12	16	19	24	22	15	18	21	19	18	14
There was no real chance of the government and doctors coming to a deal, and the government should have abandoned their plans for a new contract	16	9	24	12	16	16	17	16	16	18	15	16	16	17	15	13	18	21

What do you think junior doctors should do now the government has said it will impose the contract?

They should accept the new contract	25	46	8	20	26	29	22	15	20	27	33	27	23	23	29	26	23	20
They should continue to protest and take strike action	18	11	25	21	15	18	18	25	21	18	13	18	18	16	17	22	17	21
They should refuse to sign the new contract	29	16	41	36	33	29	30	28	25	32	31	31	27	29	29	25	32	33

The government have said that a new deal was necessary in order to expand the level of service offered by the NHS at weekends.

Generally speaking, do you think that NHS services at the weekend should or should not be expanded in this way?

Should be - the level of service offered by the NHS at the weekend should be improved	59	75	48	56	65	60	59	39	56	59	70	61	57	58	62	59	58	53
Should not be - the level of service offered by the NHS is already fine as it is	23	15	30	27	19	24	22	27	25	23	19	23	23	24	21	24	22	27

And do you think that changes to doctors contracts would or would not be necessary in order to increase the level of service offered by the NHS at weekends?

Would be necessary - it wouldn't be possible to improve weekend NHS services without changing doctors contracts	35	52	25	29	34	38	33	30	32	39	37	37	33	35	38	36	32	35
Would not be necessary - NHS services at weekends could be improved while keeping the current contract arrangements for doctors	35	24	50	36	31	35	36	34	34	35	38	37	33	35	34	34	39	38
