Previously the Labour party elected its leaders using an electoral college, where a third of the vote went to MPs, a third of the vote went to party members and a third of the vote went to members of trade unions that were affiliated to the Labour party.

Under Ed Miliband the rules were changed to a one person one vote system, with party members, registered supporters and trade union members who register as Labour supporters vote to choose the new leader.

Do you think the new system...

Shale gas is natural gas trapped under sedimentary rock, which is extracted using a method known as hydraulic fracturing, or "fracking". There are large reserves of shale gas in parts of England.

Some people think that using shale gas could be a solution to Britain's energy needs. Other people think that fracking is a dangerous technique that risks contaminating ground water and causing minor earthquakes.

From what you have seen or heard about the issue, do you think Britain should or should not start extracting shale gas?
