David Cameron has proposed introducing new rules to regulate lobbyists. The proposed laws would also affect Trade Unions, and limit the amount of money that Trade Unions can spend during general elections.

Do you think David Cameron is right or wrong to include new laws on Trade Unions in his proposed new laws on lobbying?

Right - Trade Unions are also involved in trying to lobby and influence government and it is fair to include them in any new rules

Wrong - any new laws should concentrate on lobbying companies and shouldn't be used as an excuse to attack the Trade Unions
