Below are some policies that have been suggested to help deter illegal immigration into Britain or reduce the money spent on services for illegal immigrants. In each case, we would like you to say whether you think the proposal would or would not be WORKABLE in practice

Making it compulsory for landlords to check the immigration status of people they rent property to, so that illegal immigrants would not be able to rent property.

Since 2005 same-sex couples have been able to enter into civil partnerships. While civil partnerships offer the same legal rights as marriage, same-sex couples are not able to marry.

Would you support or oppose changing the law to allow same-sex couples to marry?

This week was the Queen's speech, in which the government set out what laws they will pass in the year ahead. The government will continue with the Bill to introduce same-sex marriage, but will not introduce laws on a minimum alcohol price or a ban on tobacco branding.

Prince Andrew has recently been made a fellow of the Royal Society, the scientific institution that acts as the UK's academy of sciences, awarding research fellowships and giving scientific advice. Some fellows of the society have criticised Prince Andrew's appointment since he does not have any scientific background, others have said that it is right to continue the society's long historic link with the Royal Family.

Do you think it is or is not appropriate for Prince Andrew to be made a fellow of the Royal Society?
