Please think about the Conservative party in the 8 years since David Cameron became its leader. Regardless of whether you personally support or oppose the Conservative party, which of the following statements do you most agree with?

David Cameron has not done enough to modernise the Conservative party - while he has made progress in some areas, under the surface it is the same old Conservative party	33	33	14	54	40	19	14	51	50	35	32	29	30	37	33	35	31	35	31	31	35	40
David Cameron has got the balance between modernising the Conservative party and retaining what is important about right	20	20	52	8	28	11	39	8	16	22	19	21	25	19	18	22	18	22	22	18	21	18
David Cameron has abandoned too many traditional Conservative policies and no longer seems to care about important issues like immigration, Europe or tax cuts	25	24	25	16	13	61	37	19	14	26	22	16	19	21	35	21	28	20	25	28	23	17

Last week David Cameron said "We are all Thatcherites now", saying that in many of the big arguments of Thatcher's day such as trade union rights or privatisation, her position is now agreed with by almost everyone

Do you think it is right or wrong to say that British people are all Thatcherites now?

Abu Qatada was given asylum in Britain 1993 after fleeing religious persecution in Jordan. Since then he has been convicted in his absence of terrorist offences in Jordan and British intelligence services suspect he has continued to be involved in terrorist activity, though he has not been convicted of terrorism in the UK.

In 2005 a British court ruled that he should be deported to Jordan. Abu Qatada won an appeal against his deportation, claiming that he would not receive a fair trial in Jordan as evidence obtained from torture would be used against him. The government has now signed a treaty with Jordan saying that evidence from torture will not be used against him.

Which of the following best reflects your view?

Britain should ignore the court ruling and deport Abu Qatada anyway, regardless of what happens to him in Jordan	61	74	53	40	90	77	57	51	62	60	37	54	64	73	56	67	55	64	63	62	53

Leaving aside the assurances given by Jordan, do you think it would or would not be acceptable for evidence obtained under torture to be used against Abu Qatada?

It has been suggested that Britain should TEMPORARILY leave the convention on human rights so it could deport Abu Qatada.

In recent weeks the government have started to introduce a number of different changes to the welfare and benefit system, including introducing a cap on the total benefits a household can receive, limiting the annual rise in benefits to below the rate of inflation, reducing council tax benefit and reducing housing benefit for social housing tenants with what the government see as spare rooms (often referred to as the "bedroom tax").

Also starting in some areas this month are trials of a new system where benefits including jobseekers allowance, income support, working tax credits, child tax credits and housing benefit are all being replaced by a new single benefit called the Universal Credit.

In 2004 doctors contracts for GPs changed so that GPs no longer had the responsibility to provide out-of-hours services, and could instead opt-out and allow out-of-hours services for their surgery to be provided by external companies, contracted to the NHS.

Do you think it is right or wrong to allow GPs to opt-out of providing out-of-hours services?

Right - many individual doctors surgeries don't have the resources to provide a round the clock service and it is better provided by specialist companies	23	26	22	28	24	24	22	20	25	22	36	32	21	13	23	24	24	23	24	24	23
