Since 2005 Thorpe Park amusement park has featured an attraction called "The Asylum" in the run-up to halloween. This is a "live action horror maze" made up of a maze of chicken wire fencing, smoke and strobe lighting, and involves various actors, including a patient armed with a chainsaw to chase guests out of the exit.

Some mental health campaigners have said the maze stigmatises people with mental illness and should be closed down. Thorpe Park say that it is not intended to cause offence, and is clearly not supposed to be an accurate portrayal of a mental health institution

Do you think Thorpe Park should or should not close down the Asylum maze?
