20. Superdelegates a Good Idea

As you may know, more than 700 delegates to the Democratic convention are party leaders and elected officials known as superdelegates. These superdelegates are not chosen in primaries or caucuses and are able to support any presidential candidate they want. In general, do you think it is a good idea or a bad idea for the Democratic Party to have superdelegates at the national convention?

81. Puerto Rico - Bankruptcy

Because it is a territory of the United States and not a state, Puerto Rico is not able to restructure its government debts under current federal bankruptcy law. Some people argue that Congress should change the law to allow Puerto Rico to file for bankruptcy in order to restructure the debt. Other people say that it would be unfair to change the law because most of the creditors only lent Puerto Rico the money specifically because it did not have access to federal bankruptcy. Do you think the U.S. Congress should or should not change federal bankruptcy law to allow Puerto Rico to file for bankruptcy? (A) Congress should change the law and allow Puerto Rico to file for bankruptcy; (B) Congress should not change the law and Puerto Rico must find another way out of its financial crisis; (C) Not sure
