English universities are currently announcing the amount of money they will charge under the new tuition fees system. The majority of universities are expected to charge the maximum price, £9000, per year, with relatively few universities charging lower prices. Thinking about the prices universities are charging, which of the following best reflects your view?

Universities charging tuition fees below £9000 are probably offering just as high quality education, but more efficiently, and represent good value for students	52	54	54	61	53	54	56	50	54	47	48	56	54	52	52	46	52	56	54	51

At £9000 a three year university course will leave the average student at an English university with debt of £27,000, plus living costs during their time at university. However, graduates can normally expect higher salaries over the rest of their working lives. Thinking about the cost of university and graduates' earnings, which of the following best reflects your view?

Most graduates will still end up better off in the long term, as their increased earnings will outweigh the cost of going to university	37	57	27	38	53	30	33	42	33	29	33	40	42	39	35	40	39	38	35	33

The government are currently planning to reform the NHS. Currently health services are commissioned by local Health Trusts. Under the government's plans local Health Trusts would be abolished, and health services would instead be commissioned by consortiums made up of groups of local GPs.

From what you have read or heard about these plans, do you support or oppose these proposals?

France has recently passed a law banning people from concealing their faces in public places. The law is mainly aimed at banning Muslim women from wearing facial veils, such as the niqab (a veil covering the face) or burka (which covers the whole face and body)

Would you support or oppose a similar law being passed in Britain
