Some people have suggested that one possible solution to the crisis in Libya would be a partitioned state, with Gaddafi remaining in power in the West of the country while the rebels formed a new country in the East. Do you think this would be an acceptable or unacceptable solution to the crisis?

The government are currently planning to reform the NHS. Currently health services are commissioned by local Heath Trusts. Under the government's plans local Heath Trusts would be abolished, and health services would instead be commissioned by consortiums made up of groups of local GPs.

From what you have read or heard about these plans, do you support or oppose these proposals?

Moving on...
Internships are when young people spend a period working for a company, often unpaid, to gain work experience and contacts
Who do you think benefits the most from internships?

When Nick Clegg himself was young his father arranged an internship for him at a Finnish bank. Some people have said that it is hypocritical for Nick Clegg to criticise people getting internships through family contacts when he once benefitted the same way himself. Other people think that Nick Clegg's own background should prevent him from speaking out on the issue. Which of the following best reflects your view?

Universities are currently announcing the levels of fees they will charge under the new system of tuition fees. Under the new scheme, students will not have to pay tuition fees up front, but will pay them through a student loan which they will have to pay back after graduation once they are earning over £21,000 a year. So far, it looks as though most universities will be charging fees of between £8000 and £9000 a year.

Do you think tuition fees at this level will or will not lead to fewer people attending university?

On a different subject
Do you think the law should or should not be changed to allow someone to assist in the suicide of...

...someone suffering from a terminal illness?
