Next year sees the introduction of the new system of tuition fees in England. Under the new scheme, students will not have to pay tuition fees up front, but will pay them through a student loan which they will have to pay back after graduation once they are earning over £21,000 a year. Most universities will be charging fees of between £8000 and £9000 a year.

Regardless of whether or not you support the cost of university degrees being paid through tuition fees, do you think a university education is or is not worth £9000 a year?

At £9000 a three year university course will leave the average student at an English university with debt of £27,000, plus living costs during their time at university. However, graduates can normally expect higher salaries over the rest of their working lives. Thinking about the cost of university and graduates' earnings, which of the following best reflects your view?

The government currently provides train companies with taxpayer subsidies, without which train fares would need to be higher. The government is currently reducing subsidies as part of reducing the government's deficit, meaning that train fares are rising above inflation. Which of the following best reflects your view?

The government is right to cut rail subsidies as part of reducing the deficit, even if it means higher increases in train fares

24 | 41 15 31 | 36 15 22 | 29 20 | 18 25 24 25 | 26 22 | 19 25 26 24 24

The government should maintain rail subsidies to keep down increases in train fares, even if it means finding other cuts

47 | 35 56 45 | 39 53 51 | 45 48 | 55 45 45 47 | 48 45 | 55 45 47 47 43

Neither

15 | 13 17 13 | 14 20 14 | 16 15 | 9 13 18 16 | 14 17 | 13 17 13 16 18

Do you think the proposed high speed rail link between London, Birmingham, Manchester and Leeds is or is not a good investment for the government?

Is a good investment

39 | 44 44 46 | 41 40 44 | 43 35 | 41 45 39 34 | 42 36 | 41 37 39 43 36
