Two teaching unions have voted to go on strike on the 30th June over changes to public sector pensions that mean teachers will have to work longer and pay more towards lower pensions.

Next year sees the introduction of the new system of tuition fees in England. Under the new scheme, students will not have to pay tuition fees up front, but will pay them through a student loan which they will have to pay back after graduation once they are earning over £21,000 a year. Most universities will be charging fees of between £8000 and £9000 a year.
